

Atlanta Downtown Neighborhood Association

What is the Atlanta Downtown Neighborhood Association?

The Atlanta Downtown Neighborhood Association (ADNA) is a non-profit neighborhood group primarily made up of Downtown Atlanta residents, but also including businesspeople and others in Atlanta committed to making Downtown a strong, vibrant neighborhood.

From simply offering a chance for neighbors to meet one another to setting up meetings with City Council representatives and teaming up with other local organizations like Central Atlanta Progress, ADNA is an organization based on communication coupled with a passion for life in Downtown Atlanta.

Downtown residents are people who want to make the world around them better. Downtown living is great, but when changes take place the ADNA wants to be involved to make sure they are positive for the residential community. Why not improve interaction with the police, keep noise and litter under control, and encourage more people to live and just visit Downtown?

Primary activities and goals of the Atlanta Downtown Neighborhood Association:

- ADNA Monthly Meetings
- Distribute Downtown and ADNA news (via email listserve, web site, and more)
- Communicate with other organizations and local government (Fairlie-Poplar Task Force, Central Atlanta Progress, City of Atlanta, Neighborhood Planning Unit-M, etc.)
- Downtown Neighborhood Festival
- Foster interaction and friendship between Downtown residents and businesses
- Promote Downtown as a place to live
- Improve quality of life Downtown
- Encourage businesses, services, entertainment, and other activities Downtown.
